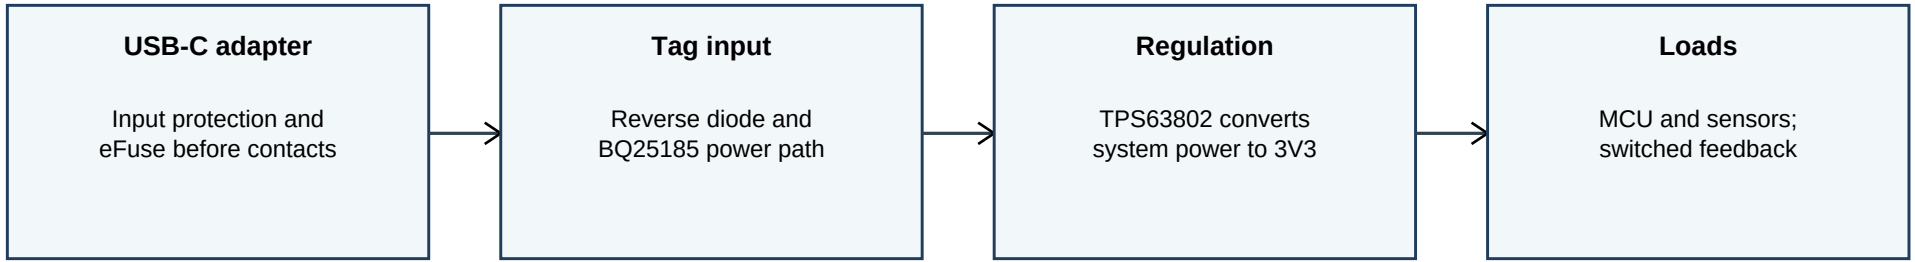
Wearable power architecture



Protected cell connects to the charger; an independent modeled temperature window inhibits charging. Physical behavior is unmeasured.